

HOT RESOLUTION IN CAMPBELL CASE

Mr. Heerman's Would Have the Judge Removed.

CALLS CONDUCT UNBECOMING

Demands Vote on the Matter on Dec. 20th, but the Resolution Goes to the Committee for Courts of Justice—Citizens Coming.

The feature of the session of the Legislature yesterday was the unexpected breaking up of the Campbell-Crawford case, through a joint resolution offered by Mr. Heerman, calling for the removal of Judge C. J. Campbell, of the County Court of Amherst, for "conduct unbecoming a judge of this Commonwealth, for assaulting and committing a suit in his court, while he, the said C. J. Campbell, was judge of the same." The resolution was debated at some length, and then referred to the Committee on Courts of Justice. Pending the disposition of the matter, however, Dr. R. B. Ware, of Amherst, showed the hand of the Campbell people for the first time by moving to lay the resolution on the table, thus indicating their policy to stand against any form of investigation. Mr. Jennings, of Lynchburg, in speaking, said he did so because he understood that citizens of Amherst and Nelson would be here, probably next week, to ask that the matter be taken up and investigated.

The Senate and House both agreed to a plan to assign the various sections of the Code to the standing committees along with the several articles of the Constitution, and a number of resolutions were offered in both branches.

Day in the Seals.
The Senate session yesterday lasted nearly an hour. The discussion over joint resolutions relating to the election by the people of commissioners of revenue and the division of committee work consumed much of this time.

The attendance of members was quite good and some spectators were present. In the absence of the Lieutenant-Governor, Senator Wickham occupied the chair. Dr. Cooper offered prayer.

The first matter of special importance was the House resolution providing how the twenty-four circuit judges are to be elected at the first election. The resolution came from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, where Chairman Barksdale said it had been carefully considered and the plan proposed seemed the most equitable which the General Assembly could adopt. Without further discussion the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Massey offered the following joint resolution, which was agreed to:

"Resolved by the Senate that the Auditor of Public Accounts be and is hereby requested to furnish a statement, showing the amount of revenue derived from liquor licenses for the years ending respectively 30th of June, 1900, 1901, 1902, and 1903, and showing what amount in each year was derived from cities and towns and what amount from counties."

COMMISSIONERS OF REVENUE.
The joint resolution on the Senate relating to election of the commissioners of revenue provoked some debate. Senator Lupton moved the adoption of the resolution. This elicited opposition from Mr. Lyle of Roanoke, who argued that no haste was desirable in acting on this resolution as it was too important a matter. He said that a bill might come from a committee and it might be adopted, and the resolution, if passed, would not be binding.

Mr. Ople suggested that the Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns consider and report on the resolution. Mr. Lupton agreed to the suggestion and it was carried out.

The joint resolution offered by Mr. McIlwaine, relating to the codification of the laws at the same time that they are put into operation was adopted. Mr. McIlwaine was named to communicate the action of the Senate.

Mr. Hyatt's resolution in relation to the division of the work of editing the laws into operation, by having a joint allotment committee from House and Senate, was called up, and elicited considerable discussion.

Mr. Lupton opposed it strongly. Mr. Ople fought for the adoption of the resolution. Mr. McIlwaine was not in the House, but upon his return he made a strong argument against it, saying that the action would "throw a bomb" into the case. He was afraid that it would undo all that had been done towards securing harmonious amendment of the work.

Mr. Byars brought the discussion to a close by asking that the resolution be voted down.

This was done unanimously. The following bills were offered:

By Mr. Hyatt: To amend the Code in relation to warrants for small claims.

By same: To provide a summary remedy for unlawful entry or detainer.

The Senate at this point adjourned.

In the House.
The House was called to order at noon by Speaker John P. Ryan, and prayer was offered by Rev. James P. Smith, of the Presbyterian Church. The attendance of members was small, and there were but few visitors. The reading of the Journal of the last day's proceedings was dispensed with, and motions and resolutions under rule thirty-nine were declared in order. The House received an invitation from the Richmond Educational Association to attend a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night, which was addressed by Dr. W. A. Barksdale, Jr. Mr. West, of Louisa, made a brief speech, explaining the object of the meeting, and the invitation was accepted.

Mr. Massey offered a resolution, fixing December 20th as the time for taking up the Campbell-Crawford case.

THE CAMPBELL CASE.
The resolution reads as follows:

Resolved, by the House of Delegates of Virginia, the Senate concurring, That C. J. Campbell, judge of the County Court of Amherst, be notified that on the 20th day of December, 1902, the General Assembly of Virginia will proceed to consider the following resolution:

Resolved, by the General Assembly of Virginia, That C. J. Campbell, judge of the County Court of Amherst, be and is hereby removed from the office of judge of said County Court, for the following reasons: (1) Conduct unbecoming a judge of this Commonwealth; (2) for assaulting and committing a suit in his court, while he, the said C. J. Campbell, was judge of the same.

That the clerk of the House of Delegates furnish the said C. J. Campbell with a copy of this resolution.

FINALLY REFERRED.
The member spoke earnestly for his resolution, and declared that the matter should be disposed of before the session was crowded with more important subjects.

Mr. Heerman wanted the Courts of Justice Committee discharged from the consideration of a former resolution offered by himself on the subject, and the immediate consideration of the present resolution. He finally withdrew these motions and allowed the matter to go to the committee.

Mr. Jennings, of Lynchburg, and Mr. West, of Louisa, stood for time, the former stating that citizens of Amherst and Nelson would be here shortly to ask that the matter be taken up.

Mr. Ware, of Amherst, had moved to lay the resolution on the table, but was ruled out by the Speaker.

The Speaker laid before the House the Senate joint resolution providing for the assignment of the various sections of the Code relating to the subjects of the Constitution, respectively to those standing committees of the Senate and House to which the articles of the Constitution have already been referred. After being advocated by Messrs. Barksdale, of Henrico, and others, the resolution was agreed to.

The House at 1 P. M. adjourned till Monday.

INTRODUCED AND REFERRED.

FACTS ABOUT TURKEYS; HOW TO RAISE THEM.
There is a great diversity of opinion as to the raising of turkeys in America. Not infrequently the mortality of turkey chicks is tremendous, and quite often the cause is not properly understood. But there are persons who for years have raised almost every chick, and under these circumstances raising turkeys is a very profitable business.

It is a mistaken idea to suppose that turkeys do not thrive in confinement. Some of the best fanners of these birds in the country practice yarding, and not flat. Of course, the space in which the turkeys are enclosed should not be too small, not less than one to three acres for a moderate sized flock. One advantage of yarding is that it enables the breeder to get all the eggs laid by the hen. Another is that it facilitates the protection of the chicks against the attacks of hawks and predatory animals. It is commonly supposed that because a turkey will fly up a tree to roost, it would fly over the moon if it saw a crasher on the other side. A turkey will fly over anything which it can alight, but it will not attempt to fly over a wire-netting fence, as it cannot see through it. In fact, it is not a very high flyer. In a leading poultry journal not long ago, a turkey was traveling along a wooden-picket fence half a day at a time to find a place to get out. Turkeys may be prevented from flying over a fence by attaching a light board or chicken-field, and jumping the fence into it and has it half buried before you arrive. With head well up, eyes flashing and tail wagging in perpetual rhythmic delight, they run from a fence to a fence through the stubble at full gallop. Dan would seem, to the average onlooker, to show much less style and grace than the bird he is making his way right around the edge of the field, in a manner not approved by the standard treatises

CORDES & MOSBY.

The Holiday Season is Nearing

Our holiday stock is daily arriving. We are pressed for room to display it. The usual January reduction must, therefore, be made now in order to make room for these goods. Another most important fact to remember is, that all these goods are new and fresh, only a little sown in moving, due entirely to weather conditions. You will surely need them shortly, therefore a comparison of our prices and qualities will tell plainly how prices have been slashed here.
